

Lloyds Bank Monthly Saver

Lloyds Bank Monthly Saver account conditions

These Monthly Saver Special conditions give key information about your account. Please read them with the Personal Banking Terms and Conditions and Banking Charges. Both documents form part of our agreement with you.

The Monthly Saver is a savings account for existing Lloyds Bank current account customers who want to save regularly but still want to have instant access to their money. It pays interest at a fixed rate, and lasts for a year. It's a restricted savings account – this affects how and when we tell you about any changes.

Deposits

You can save between £25 and £250 a month, by bank transfer or using a standing order.

Please make sure we get your first payment during the 28 days after you open your account. Following this, we need to get your monthly payments by 25th of the month.

You can pay in more than once a month, as long as you don't pay in over £250.

You don't have to pay in every month – but because you can't save more than £250 a month, you'll limit the amount you can save, as you can't carry over any unused amounts to the following months. If you use a standing order, you can change the amount at any time.

If you pay in more than £250 in a month, we'll return the full amount of the payment which took your savings that month over £250.

Withdrawals

You can take your money out straightaway:

- by transferring it to another Lloyds Bank account or an account with another financial provider
- through one of our branches with a counter. The counter service may not be available if there is an alternative option available to complete your transaction.

As you can't save more than £250 a month, please remember any withdrawals will limit the amount you can save.

You can use our mobile banking app, online banking, call us or come into a branch with a counter.

Interest

We pay fixed interest – this means your interest rate won't change while you have the account.

We pay interest into your account on the anniversary of account opening.

To check your current interest rate, please refer to our website.

As we work out your interest each day and pay it at the end of 12 months, you won't get a full year's interest on all your savings. For example, if you save £50 each month, we'll pay you interest on your first £50 for 12 months, the second £50 for 11 months and so on. So, you won't get a full year's interest on all of your savings, but each monthly deposit payment earns interest for the amount of time it's held in your account.

Account information

Normally we provide a statement when your account matures. We'll also do this if you take money out during a month.

You can check your account using our app or online banking as well.

LLOYDS

Maturity

We'll get in touch before the end of the term, to ask what you'd like to do with your savings.

At the end of its fixed term your account will automatically change into a Standard Saver. After this the Standard Saver interest rate and account conditions will apply.

You'll still have instant access and we'll send you full details before the change. If you keep your savings in a Standard Saver, we'll take this as you having agreed to the new account conditions.

Please remember, any regular payments into your account will carry on after it changes into a Standard Saver and your account number and sort code will stay the same.

Bear in mind

You can only have either one Monthly Saver or Club Lloyds Monthly Saver account, held either in your sole name or jointly but not both.

If your Monthly Saver is held jointly, you can make a transfer to a Lloyds Bank account held by either of you as well as one you have together.

If you open a joint Monthly Saver account and your existing Lloyds Bank current account is in your sole name then your joint Monthly Saver account holder can realise you already have a connection with us.

If you close your Monthly Saver before the end of its term, you can't open another Monthly Saver with us until after the first anniversary of account opening.

If your account changes to Standard Saver, your account number and sort code will stay the same.

You can't make standing order payments into your Monthly Saver from a savings account you have with us.
